Consumers are constantly turning more to the internet for everything, including real estate. As a result, the number of internet marketing technologies is exploding and consequently overwhelming to brokers and agents. In today's challenging market, we can not afford to waste precious dollars experimenting to find out what works! If you are interested in maximizing and measuring the value you get from online advertising, we have some valuable information for you.

On Wednesday, January 13th, ListHub is hosting an online webinar to help. ListHub gives brokers the latest online marketing tools and strategies. Today, ListHub manages the listing inventory for thousands and thousands of real estate companies nationwide. Find out how to put their experience to work for you!

PS If you are unable to attend this event, go to www.ListHub.com today to create your free account and start syndicating your listings to over 30 real estate channels!

If you have any questions about this event, please contact Heather Johnson at 877.847.3394 x 739.

This event is limited to brokers and their marketing or IT personnel.
